POLICE STATIONS

Polish Police consist of the following services: criminal service, prevention service and the service providing support for the Police activities in the field of organisation, logistics and technology. Court police is also the part of the Polish Police.

The supervising authority of Polish Police is the National Police Headquarters headed by the Commander-in-Chief of Police. The Commander-in-Chief is supported by three deputies, responsible for prevention, criminal affairs and logistics respectively.

The Commander-in-Chief of Police supervises directly the Commander-in-Chief of the Warsaw Metropolitan Police and 16 Provincial Commanders; they supervise the work of municipal and county police commanders, who are responsible for the work of police officers in police stations.
